Should I Use Insurance?

Therapy can be expensive. Knowing the benefits and risks can help you decide how to proceed.

The Benefits

- Co-payments can be low.
- You may not have a copay

The Risks

- You must qualify for a mental disorder diagnosis, which would have to be disclosed to your insurance panel.
 - The diagnosis becomes the focus of your therapy, rather than the reason you contacted your therapist.
- If you need to apply for a life/disability insurance/private health insurance, your company has access to your health information. This can effect eligibility and premiums.
- Insurance panels may have case managers consult with your therapist to get ongoing sessions authorized. They decide whether your therapy is a "medical necessity."
- Some EAPs do not allow reports to be written for disability or 3rd party organizations. If you require such services PLEASE make sure this is part of your contract.

If you plan to use insurance

As a courtesy, we will bill your insurance company for your visits. We will contact your insurance company to verify your outpatient therapy benefits. Information received from your insurance company is not a guarantee of payment. Benefits are subject to provisions and eligibility at the time service is rendered.

To avoid an unpleasant surprise about your coverage, please contact your insurance company prior to your first visit for authorization. It is important that to keep a record of whom you talk to and what you are told regarding your benefits. Although we file your insurance and check your benefits, if for any reason your insurance company denies payment for services rendered, you become responsible for the outstanding balance.

Payments Accepted

Pay Pal, Checks, Cash
Visa Mastercard Discover

Your payment or co-payment is expected at the beginning of each session. Also, please realize that any amounts left unpaid by your insurance (such as annual deductibles) will be your responsibility to pay.

Non payment

After 60 days any unpaid amount is turned over to a collection agency (without prior discussion of plan for payment)

A 30% charge is added for collection agency fees

A 40% charge is added if the account is over 1 year old) By signing this form you are binding yourself to this contract.

Late Cancellation and No Show Policy

Your session is reserved exclusively for you. A failed appointment or cancelled appointment without a 24-hour notice in advance will be charged $90. Your insurance does not pay for this.
